

What our families say

"Our daughter has been transformed growing in confidence, ability, sociability, unselfishness . . ."

"I could never thank The Mount enough for giving my daughter the ability and assurance to stretch and grow into the wonderful person she is today . . ."

"The education, training and love he received at The Mount has now enabled our son to live independently . . ."

Rudolf Steiner

The Mount

The Mount is part of the Camphill Movement, founded in 1940 by Dr Karl König and based on the educational and social principles of Rudolf Steiner (1861-1925), the Austrian scientist, philosopher and artist.

Our community of co-workers are committed to the Karl König principles of respect and equality. We also welcome guest workers from all over the world who enrich the lives of our young students with their diversity and energy.

Engaging in practical activities such as traditional crafts is a key feature of education at The Mount

Workshops include
Baking ~ Cooking
Estate and rural skills ~ Gardening
Pottery ~ Weavery
Woodwork ~ Candle making

We value these practical activities for their therapeutic potential and for developing valuable transferable skills in our students.

Each work setting presents different opportunities and we take seriously the process of student choice. Our cultural and artistic activities include music, seasonal festivals and drama.

Living and Learning for Vulnerable Young Adults

The Mount was established to create a social environment in which vulnerable young adults can live, learn, work and develop.

The attempt to work together as a community is our primary healing resource, the foundation for all educational and therapeutic endeavours.

The Mount offers a healthy social environment that is based on the mutual care, respect and spiritual integrity of every individual, where we see our young people grow and flourish.

“ The Mount understands, and inspires young people in its care. ”
